Oatmeal Protein Pancakes with Raspberries

I am a huge Instagram fan and I seriously love following Clean Eating moms that post yummy recipes. I have been seeing lots of body builders and fitness competitors post about protein pancakes. I mean seriously they look amazing, like so amazing that there is no way you could eat those while doing contest prep. So I decided to give this one particular recipe a try.

So the ingredients were simple, it was easy to make but my pancakes look NOTHING like the girl who posted them. I mean honestly, she had to of made at least 10 batches before she got it right. I even messaged her on Instagram to get her secret for perfect looking pancakes!!!

But despite the look of them, the taste is out of this world. I mean ridiculously good!!! I add a little honey to the cream topping because I wanted more sweetness. But the almond extract was just what it needed!! You have to try this recipe!! It will CHANGE your LIFE!!!
